

2. Defining:

In this study, student learning was changed by implementing the following approach:

This new approach was chosen to address these following objectives:

The study concluded that by implementing this approach, student learning would...

3. Analyzing:

After the new approach was implemented in the case study, I noticed that the students...

This new approach to teaching is enabling learning because...

This new approach to teaching is a barrier to learning because...

In the study, the students' feedback about this new approach is...

4. How to implement feedback in classroom practice:

What worked?

What didn't work and why?

I need to change...

My plan to make this change is...

5. Action Planning:

Consider these questions for a class you are about to teach. If you are not going to teach a class in the near future, reflect on a past classroom experience where an instructor could have implemented a different approach to heighten your learning experience.

1. In my classroom, I hope to change student learning by implementing the following approach:

2. With this new approach, I hope to achieve the following:

3. I believe that by implementing this approach, student learning will...